Freelance Writing & Editing Services

Running a business is a lot of work. Your to-do list is endless.

You know how important your communication is, but can you afford to give it the time it needs?

When you work with me, you get more than a writer; you get a partner with over 15 years' experience in arts, education and nonprofits. I take the time to get to know you and your organization, so that I can help you craft the messages your readers must know.

Whether you need marketing materials, newsletters, press releases, Web content or internal communication tools, I can help you put your best foot forward with fresh, articulate writing, eagle-eyed editing and spirited project management. On time. On target.

You've got work to do. Let me help.
